

BUILDING BRIDGES

Connecting services in ABI and Criminal Justice

Presenters include

Damien Sheehy

Self Advocate

Personal experiences of the justice system:
What works and what doesn't

Dr. Glenn Kelly

Diverge Psychology Services

ABI literacy

Hilary Murtagh

Regional ABI project

ABI resources in Hume

Allan Elliott

Office of the Public Advocate

Getting help from an Independent Third Person

A/Sergeant Michelle Mason

Victoria Police

Criminal Justice Diversions
LEAP 'person warning flag'

Kaz Gurney

Goulburn Valley Community Legal Centre

Accessing and communicating with legal representatives

Kate Knights

Community Correctional Services

Working with Correctional Services

Hume session detail

Date and time

12 November 2014, 10am - 4 pm

Location

Rafferty's Reception Centre, Benalla.

Cost

$88/agency (1 or 2 attendees)

More information including registration kit:

www.diverge.org.au

About this workshop

The Office of the Public Advocate has funded some key initiatives to assist people with acquired brain injury (ABI) who come in contact with the criminal justice (CJ) system.

The Building Bridges project is presenting a series of workshops throughout Victoria, across 2014-2015, designed to increase active liaison across ABI and CJ sectors.

Hands-on, direct-service workers are the target audience for these workshops: ABI service providers, mental health workers, community corrections staff, and post-release services staff are key stakeholders. The workshops will include resources for participants, involve active learning tasks, a research component, and are part of a longer-term approach of systemic change designed to benefit this client group.

This advert is for the Hume region. To stay informed of events in other regions, please add yourself to the mailing list by following this link in your web browser <http://eepurl.com/T7TR1>

Hume workshop - registration essential

Registration deadline: Mon 3rd November 2014

Hilary Murtagh, Community Interlink

E: hilary.murtagh@gvhealth.org.au

T: 02 6051 5705